New life insurance purchased during the first eight months totalled $49,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000 over last year.

Income tax payments are $2,600,000 higher and customs and excise revenues $2,700,000 over last fiscal year.

Remembrance Day Fittingly Celebrated

A very impressive service commemorated locally the eighteenth anniversary of the armistice which ended the Great War.

The strongest turnout of ex-servicemen yet to parade here on the 11th, after laying their own wreath and one from the government of Alberta, stood silent for two long minutes, at Wainwright's beautiful memorial clock tower and after "Last Post" and "Reveille" marched to the Elite theatre.

The service was conducted by Rev. W. S. Brooks, assisted by Rev. T. E. Armstrong and Pastor F. Bennett. The guest speaker was Comrade S. C. Hebbert, of Vermilion, zone representative for the Canadian Legion, and this being the first occasion that the principal speaker at one of these Wainwright memorial services has been drawn directly from what may be termed the governing body of the legion in Alberta (the provincial command), and from the many congratulations received in connection with Comrade Hebbert's address, the local branch of the legion will be well advised to repeat the experiment.

Th well-known hymns sung were led by the masked choir of the Wainwright churches. Mrs. C. T. Luby being at the piano and Mr. Alex. Adams assisting on the violin.

The battered old steel helmets at the doors collected approximately twenty dollars, one half of which has been forwarded to the Soldier's Hut, University Hospital, Edmonton, the balance having been forwarded to the "Tubercular Veterans' Sanatorium" at Keith, Alberta.

Great War Vets Welcome Crowd Concert & Dance

In the Elite theatre on Wednesday evening last, the members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion B.E.L. presented their annual concert, one of the best of its kind to a crowd of over 600 people from Wainwright and surrounding districts.

Mr. Gordon Graham made a very efficient chairman and in his opening remarks thanked all those who, in any way, helped to make the proceedings a success and reminded everyone not to let the spirit of remembrance of our glorious dead, die. He also mentioned that the poppy sales which took place the previous week netted the handsome sum of approximately $100.00.

His Worship, the Mayor, was then introduced and in a few fitting words complimented everyone on the large turnout and reminded us that the "Dark Angel" is coming to the local theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Merle Oberon Featured In Outstanding Drama

The story of the beautiful tenderness of a love that grew from childhood to wartime in a picturesque English countryside, spoken softly and convincingly honest, is brought back in sound after a decade, in the production of "The Dark Angel" from Guy Bolton's stirring play.

The technique of production and the tempo of the story narration equal the quality of the performance, and that is high, at times superbly touching. Frederic March, Herbert Marshall, a new, no longer exotic Merle Oberon, John Halliday, all turn out a merit-packed picture from opening shots to finish.

There is much to resemble pastels in the settings that find Kitty (Kitty O'Brien), English girl, loving Alan (Frederic March), while his cousin Marshall loves her.

Months in the trenches bring to Alan the realization of his love for Kitty. Home on leave, he confesses his love and they arrange to marry on the morrow. An order cancelling all army leaves shatters their plans, and they spend their last hours near the transport steamer trying to forget that they may never see each other again.

The war over, Alan, believed to be killed, is in a training school, blind, and unwilling to return to be a burden to Kitty. Later he achieves considerable success under an assumed name.

One day while Alan is fishing with Sir George Barton, official of the training school, a woman member of a hunting party is thrown from her horse and stunned. It is Kitty.

PRINTING, Etc. EXPLORED FOR SALES TAX REVENUE

Subscriptions to magazines and periodicals, a single copy of which costs for more than 15 cents are taxable when the subscription is taken, but subscriptions to same, a single copy of which sells for 15 cents or less is not taxable, according to a ruling by the Sales Tax branch of the provincial treasury department and released by authority of Hon. Charles Cockroft, provincial treasurer.

The ruling is one of several released by the branch last week, for direct or indirect advertising purposes ordered by industrialists, manufacturers, commercial houses and financial institutions or by advertising agencies are exempt from the tax when no charge is made for such printed matter to the recipient.

Business cards, letters, calendar, office stationery, invoice forms, statements of accounts and all book-keeping forms and other printed matter used by registered vendors in the conduct of their business are not advertising matter and are subject to the tax. Restaurant menus are taxable when purchased by restaurants, cafes, hotels, tea rooms, ice cream parlors and others.

Prescription blanks also are taxable when purchased by druggists and physicians. The exemption does not extend to magazines or periodicals of a semi-advertising nature which are sold to the general public.

Another ruling issued has to deal with charitable institutions.

It provides that in order to obtain exemption from the Sales Tax, charitable organizations must receive authority in writing from the superintendent of the Sales Tax Branch. Purchases must be made by such exempted institutions on one written order or an official specifically authorized to sign on behalf of the institution.

Exemption will not be granted unless the order is written on a written order or an official specifically authorized to sign on behalf of the institution.

In addition to commodities exempt by the Act and regulations thereunder, the exemption shall extend only to the necessary equipment for the institution or clothing where such is provided free of charge to the recipient. Individual members of charitable institutions are not entitled to exemption on purchases of commodities for their own use.

Still another ruling deals with

Automobiles and household furniture of all descriptions are taxable. Another ruling deals with articles made to order.

Persons who make from their own materials articles to order must collect the two per cent tax on the sale of such articles to the person who has ordered them. Labor service charges for the fabrication of such articles may not be deducted from the contract price, notwithstanding that such charges may be separately billed to customers apart from charges for materials as the sale of the articles in the completed state.

When a customer furnishes the material for the making of an article, the vendor must collect the tax on the full cost of the article made to order, if the tax has not already been paid on the material so furnished.

If the tax has been paid on the material furnished by the customer, the vendor must charge and collect the tax on the full cost of the article made to order, less the amount already paid by the customer on the material furnished by him.

To Turn Old Homes Into New

(By HENRY C. WALTON)

On Monday, Nov. 2, branches of the chartered banks throughout Canada will begin to welcome a new type of borrower. On that date, according to present plans, applications will be received for loans under the new Housing Modernization Loan plan, which is the result of co-operation between the Dominion Government and the banks. Fifty million dollars will be available for loans to home-owners who are prepared to make improvements to their properties. The success of the plan as a measure to promote recovery is now dependent on the number of home-owners who are willing to spend money on improvements and to borrow from the banks for that purpose.

Two features of the plan should make it particularly attractive to borrowers. One is the low rate of interest to be charged on loans. The other is the absence of red tape in making arrangements for the loans. On a loan of $100 for twelve months, for example the bank will discount the borrower's note at 3% per cent. The borrower will receive $96.75, and will pay back $8.84 a month for the ensuing year. The discount rate naturally varies according to the term of the loan, but the rates have been fixed, through calculations made by Dominion Government actuaries, so that the rate of interest paid will always be 6.32 per cent, regardless of the amount borrowed, or of the term of the loan, which may be as long as 36 months. This rate compares with interest rates of from 12 to 14 per cent, charged by finance companies on installment purchases.

Loans will be made under the plan only to owners and only for the definite purpose of financing some kind of improvement that comes under the general definition of modernization. The banks, however, will not require any collateral security in the way of mortgage or lien. The application forms to be filled out by would-be borrowers contain spaces for information on which the bank manager will base his recommendation, but all information requested is pertinent to the creditworthiness of the applicant. No questions are asked that could be construed as unreasonably inquisitive.

Under the definition of modernization such projects as building a garage, renovating a house, putting in a new bathroom or modernizing an old one, painting, decorating, installing a new furnace, building a basement recreation room; in other words, almost anything that will give a ten-year-old house the features that today's builders are accustomed to include in new houses. Excluded from the plan are loans for buying refrigerators, stoves, radios or other removable domestic equipment. Excluded also are loans to finance building on vacant property, as are loans already available under the Dominion Housing Act and moreover they involve mortgages, a type of security on which the chartered banks are forbidden to lend.

The term, dwellings, which is used in the regulations, will be broadly interpreted to include, in addition to private houses, duplexes, small apartment houses and farm houses. For example a loan could properly be granted under the plan for the purpose of remodeling a large house into two or more apartments.

No endowment to the note will be required but it is probable that in the case of a loan to a married couple, both husband and wife will be asked to sign the note. In many cases, it will be found that the house is in the wife's name and it will be the husband whose income will provide the monthly repayments, so that this procedure becomes technically necessary. There is also the psychological factor to be considered, namely that the demand for modernization is likely to originate on the feminine side of the house and the bank manager will like to have some assurance that the husband is willing to put up with the temporary disturbance to his comfort that is always caused by having workmen in the house.

The Canadian plan is modelled on a similar plan that has been in force for the past few years in the United States as part of that country's National Housing Act. It is generally considered that the United States plan has been one of the most successful of the many plans adopted there to promote recovery. There are some differences between the plans of the two countries, but broadly they are the same. In the United States, the maximum loan for improvements to dwellings is $2,000, as in Canada. The average amount of all loans has been found to be about $300, so this maximum is probably high enough. In the matter of interest rates, the Canadian borrower has a great advantage. The United States borrower's note is discounted at 5 per cent., which is equivalent to a little less than 10 per cent. interest paid on the loan. The Canadian rate of discount, 3% per cent, is equivalent to an interest rate of 6.32 per cent. The maximum term of a loan is five years in the United States and three in Canada.

In both countries the Government guarantees the lending institutions against loss up to a percentage of the aggregate amounts lent under the plans. The percentage guaranteed by the United States Government was originally 20 but it has been lowered to 10. The Canadian percentage has been fixed at 15. Finally, the Canadian rate of discount, 3% per cent, is equivalent to an interest rate of 6.32 per cent. The maximum term of a loan is five years in the United States and three in Canada.

From the Government's point of view the chief advantage of the Housing Modernization Loan plan is the stimulus it will give to employment. In the United States a total of approximately $500,000,000 has been lent to date for home modernization purposes. The effect of such an expenditure in providing direct employment for painters, plasterers, carpenters and other workmen can be readily imagined.

The banks will benefit directly through the employment of idle funds, but may also expect indirect benefits as the new business created by modernization projects makes it possible for commercial borrowers to increase their loans.

Experience in the United States shows that the amount of new business resulting from the plan is much greater than the total amount of money lent. As a writer in the current issue of the Canadian Banker points out, "the impressive total of $500,000,000 of loans does not measure the effectiveness of the United States plan. It has been found that, when coupled with widespread community movements for house improvement and modernization, many people who did not need loans were encouraged to improve their properties. It has been estimated that for the whole of the United States, for one person undertaking improvements with the help of a loan there were three persons who undertook them without such aid. In other words, the amount of modernization undertaken is represented not by $500,000,000 but by something near $2,000,000,000."

The speed with which the plan has been instituted in Canada is a matter for which some credit is due to the country's banking system. To secure financial co-operation in the United States the Government had to get the approval of several thousand individual institutions. In Canada, the co-operation of only ten banks was required. Once that was secured, some 3,300 lending offices were automatically made available to receive loan applications. Thus the plan will be under way, thanks to the employment Commission and the banks, before the legislation giving it formal approval has been introduced in the House of Commons.

In Windsor, Ont., the plan has been in operation since October 15. Some public-spirited citizens in that city, seeing the need for stimulating building there, had already instituted a similar plan by guaranteeing loans with local branches of the banks. As the machinery was already in existence in Windsor, there was no reason for delaying its operation until November 2, when modernization loan applications will be received by bank branches in other parts of Canada.

DYNAMITE CITY

A city which will eventually house over 5,000 persons and will have two churches, two hospitals, shops, stores, theatres and garages as well as a $12,000,000 newspaper development is being blasted out of the virgin forest and rock on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River at Baie Comeau, 200 miles below Quebec City, according to a story entitled "Dynamite City" which appears in the October issue of "The C.I.L. Oval".

Discovery of the relation between the moon and tides of the sea is credited to the Phoenicians.

WHEN DOCTORS SIT DOWN TO DINE.

I sat at a medical dinner recently—a meeting of the county society of which I am secretary. The 72-year-old chairman sat next to me—he at the head of the table. Parts of the general conversation, I feel sure, may interest my readers.

I asked the president, "Doctor, do you still cling to the idea that the breast of the fowl—the light meat—is easily digested, nutritious, and good for a sick man?"

The doctor, trying his best to tear the meat off a drumstick with a dull fork—"Now, I don't... never did."

Another physician, grey-haired: "I've quit recommending light meat, because I'd rather eat shanks myself!"

The hot tea-biscuits came along; they were deliciously put up, brown-crusted and flaky inside. An X-ray specialist at my left grew talkative: "Well—we used to conduct hot biscuits; I've never in a quarter of a century, I guarantee found peptic ulcer in a man that was a hot-biscuit-friend."

The president: "I've eat 'em for seventy-five years; they've never hurt me—that I've noticed!"

The essayist—a young man who was to speak on plastic surgery: "The only time hot biscuits ever hurt me was when I couldn't get 'em." (He was reaching for his fourth.)

There were thirty-nine at the table, doctors and their wives. It was remarkable how they all went after those hot biscuits and the dark meat of fried spring chicken—and nobody suffered from indigestion because of it.

For myself, if my patients can handle chicken at all, I give him soft-cooked dark meat, not part of an old asbestos breast. And, if he can't eat a fine little hot biscuit with butter, he is too sick to tackle a slob of tough "light bread." So there.

Will the Act Function?

The people of Alberta are entitled to judge for themselves the unfairness and injustice of The Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act. This is the first of a series of short statements concerning the Act, and its effect on you.

Will the Act function? Be it just or unjust, will it work? There are cases pending in the Courts in which the question of the validity of the Act is raised. Until the decision of the Courts is rendered, it is natural that lending companies cannot be expected in the meantime to prejudice their rights.

Companies have been and are still prepared, regardless of what the decision of the Courts may be, to enter upon negotiations and explore all avenues in an effort to arrive at arrangements fair to debtor and creditor, a course which was recently followed by companies doing business in the Province of Saskatchewan.

Debtors should think over their position, and the doubtful security the Act might provide, before brushing aside the undertakings they entered into when they obtained their loans. Those who are not debtors should think what their position will be in a community where promises are lightly cast aside. If you cannot trust your neighbor—if your neighbor cannot trust you—what becomes of security and the basis upon which business and all other human relationships rest?

This statement is one of a series written by The Mortgage Loans Association of the Province of Alberta. The Association is composed of 14 member companies. It represents hundreds of thousands of small investments by typical Canadians. Its loans to Alberta amount to some forty-five million dollars.

(The second statement in this series will be published in two weeks.)

KEEPING THE HAY FIELDS PRODUCTIVE

Any planned livestock programme requires a regular and abundant supply of hay. Often a very large portion of the farm is used for hay in order to maintain an adequate supply. Grain and root crops usually receive the manure and are expected to give the most profitable returns. The hay on the other hand has to do the best it can on the residual effect of manure or fertilizers used for previous crops. The question is often being asked whether it would not be better to put the manure on the hay crop.

An experiment has been extended over a few years at the Dominion Experimental Station at Kapuskasing, Ontario, which gives information on this question. The four-year rotations of oats, barley and two years of hay, have been running side by side for eleven years. The only difference in these two rotations is that one has received no manure treatment while the other has received top applications of manure during each cycle. One of eight tops per acre being placed in for barley and the other of eight tops per acre being put on as a top dressing on the hay stubble.

For the benefit of the second year hay crop. Thus, the two applications are equivalent in the rotation and any residual effects should be equally met by succeeding crops. The results show that on the average unmanured barley produced 18.3 bushels per acre, while manured barley gave 22.6 bushels. This is a considerable increase, but when the value of manure is considered against the increased value of the crop, the returns per acre are actually diminished from $13.34 to net income to $13.06 with manure. On the other hand, where the manure treatment was applied to the hay crop, the yield increased on the average from 86 tons unmanured to 187 tons per acre manured, and the return value at local prices with the value of the manure taken into consideration rose from

Now that the Banker Hill Monument Association has, after more than a century, opened its membership to women, we may expect to find some of our feminine leaders on the roster which originally carried such names as Daniel Webster and Edward Everett. This may be late recognition of the splendid work of Sara Josepha Hale without whose aid the monument might never have been built. Through her efforts the women of the country provided the funds to complete the monument. Mrs. Hale was editor of Godey's Lady's Book, first of the women's magazines. According to Ruth Finley, who has written the life of the woman editor, it was in 1846, after the Monument Association had struggled for funds for 12 years, that Mrs. Hale had the idea of getting the women of the country to cooperate and they did contribute $30,000, the proceeds from the sale of their various kinds of handwork.

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

MILK, THE LIFE-GIVER

The best of all foods. Of all foods the most dangerous. Of the sextette of essential foods, milk, meat, fish, eggs, vegetables and fruit, milk is the best and most universally useful. It is the basis of the land elaborated by the cow or other mammalian, just as cod liver oil is the grass of the sea, elaborated in the liver of the sea fish. It is the best of all infant foods and in a hundred ways enters into the diet of the adult.

But milk is encumbered by dangers along all the extensive route from cow to the consumer. From the dirty flanks of the animals, the unclean and dusty stables, from dirty utensils, dirty fingers, fingers, with disease, come danger. The heat of the dust of transportation, the inferior dairy methods and finally exposure to the sun on the back steps of the tenement, contribute to render this precious dangerous to the user. There is another dangerous factor attending milk. It is one of the best mediums for the growth of germs of disease. A combination of heat and a few bacteria produces millions of germs in short order.

Every sixth day in Canada and the United States, someone dies from the effect of dirty milk; every eighth day there is an epidemic of sickness from the same cause. What are some of the milk illnesses? They are seen in the experience of us all: tuberculosis, both bovine and human, undulant fever, typhoid fever, the devastating summer complaint of babies, all the infectious diseases, cholera and dysentery summer complaint of babies, all the infectious diseases, cholera and dysentery may be spread through the medium of infected milk. The City of Montreal, less than ten years ago had within the space of a few months 5000 cases of typhoid and 500 deaths, the cause of which was unerringly traced to the milk supply of the city. Many a mother mourns the loss of her infant through a diarrhoea inspired by the same cause. The majority of our cripples, young persons with hunchback, hip-disease, joint disease are produced by tuberculosis in one form or another. Much of this is due to infected milk.

How may these dangers and their disastrous results be prevented? Is it possible to secure a safe milk supply. Undoubtedly. The means are simple and within reach of everyone whether he be a dweller in the large city or of the remotest part of the country. The remedy for the dangers incident to dirty milk is pasteurization. In well-managed cities all the milk and cream offered for sale are pasteurized. That is why, for example, there has not been a case of bovine tuberculosis in any child of Toronto for the last 20 years.

But someone says the milk in my town is not pasteurized; moreover, what about children on farms where pasteurized milk will never be available? The remedy is at hand. Every household has a double boiler. A milk thermometer costs but a few cents. The careful mother will pasteurize the baby's milk. She will heat it to 145 degrees F., hold it at this temperature for half-an-hour, and then cool it to 50 degrees F. and so keep the milk until it is used. Her method of pasteurizing is as good as the best. The milk supply so treated destroys germs of all kinds. The housewife who follows this plan is able to duty one and all of the diseases carried by milk.

Another says: pasteurization destroys something in the milk. Possibly, pasteurization may destroy some of the anti-scurvy vitamin. It is not a serious matter. A little orange juice, the juice of tomato or prune, good for the child in any case, makes up for any loss in milk sustained through pasteurization. The objection to this measure of protection is out of court. He has no case.

ODOURLESS DRY-CLEANING

For the dry-cleaning of textile materials as well as for the degreasing of metals two new non-inflammable chemicals are now being made in Canada. Used in special machines, they create a vapour which extracts all dirt and grease without harming the material being cleaned and without having any after odour. The use of these chemicals in laundries and in the heavy metal industries is interestingly described in the October issue of "The C.I.L. Oval".

ANIMALS REQUIRE SALT

Experiments carried on over a period of years by agricultural authorities proved that farm animals deprived of salt lost their appetites and suffered reduced weight according to an article appearing in the current issue of "The C.I.L. Oval". Iodine, sulphur and phosphates are now incorporated in salt which is fed to livestock.

THE HOME
LOAN SCHEME

We draw the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Bank of Montreal in our column respecting the Home Loan scheme outlined and backed by the Dominion Government and concurred in 100 per cent by Canada's chartered banks. It would be a fine thing for everyone to read the details of this scheme and think it over. We would not urge anyone to borrow if their prospects were not good for repayment, or if they did not require the additional advantage and convenience the scheme would afford.

There are many families with growing children in their where an additional room or two may be needed, and the scheme would afford finance for this provided the head of the house can satisfy the bank that his circumstances are such that he could meet monthly payments on the loan. Then there are many homes that a coat of paint, or an overhaul of stucco would make a great deal more habitable and also add beauty to the surroundings. Interior alterations, plumbing, decorating, and in fact anything except movable merchandise such as furniture, pianos, radios, etc., would qualify under the loan scheme, also garages on residential property.

According to our understanding the maximum loan on a property is $2,000, but this does not mean that $2,000 must be borrowed. A person may borrow anything from $100 up for permanent improvements so long as he can meet his payments, and pay a fair amount each month. The loan was originally planned to be repaid in twelve monthly payments, but the time has been now extended so that home owners may have up to three years in which to repay the loan, with an interest rate which figures out at 6.32 per cent. When the present price of materials and labor is considered a great deal of improving could be done on a 1,000 loan if wisely used.

The planning and disappearance of the past few years have added a note of abandon and unsightliness to homes, both rural and urban, that tends to further discourage and depress. Paint of stucco, a new built-in cupboard, new archway, or a nice new porch added to the home would make the family take more pride in their surroundings, and feel like there was more to live for. People are very greatly influenced by their surroundings, and an improved home environment would unconsciously bring people out of the doldrums and into a more optimistic and cheery future. If we are here to stay we want the best we can get.

TWO SIDES
TO THE STORY

There's two sides to every story. In Alberta, and throughout Canada, life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries should realize there is more to debt reduction legislation than easing of debt burdens. It goes deeper than that.

It is interesting to learn that 30 per cent of the electors, federal and provincial, are policyholders. Through the institution of life insurance, they have pooled their resources, their life savings, in order that their collective strength may withstand the storms and attacks that would bring financial disaster to the individual. We also know that, despite war, epidemic, panic or depression, life insurance meets every policy obligation promptly and in full. In fact, during the past six years, it has distributed and is still distributing over $500,000 every working day in the year to policyholders and beneficiaries.

Seventy-five per cent of this money has been, and continues to be, paid to those still living; the remaining twenty-five per cent going to beneficiaries of dead policyholders. In a word, life insurance is the hard-earned savings of 3,500,000 men and women in all walks of life. It is the greatest co-operative business in Canada. No one doubts its stability; no one questions the prudent direction of its business.

But—there are forces at work in Canada today which menace the very security of every life insurance policyholder in Canada. In an effort to repair wrongs, legislators have gone to the extreme, and cancellation of public and private debts is going forward. This without regard to the debtors' ability to pay.

It would seem to be in the interest of all concerned to stop and think for a moment that promises to pay should be observed to the limit that the debtor is able to pay, for the good of both the debtor and the life insurance policyholder in thousands of cases one and the same person! Such a policy would not only present the good word and honesty of the debtor in the eyes of the outside world but would also help to protect the life insurance on which his family may any day be forced to depend.

LANDSLIDE

With the U.S. election well out of the way, political pundits can so back and philosophize on the Roosevelt landslide. The liberal-minded New York Nation wonders if Mr. Roosevelt will move to the left. Says his editorial writer:

"The past years have taught us that questions like this are answered by three sets of factors. One is the nature of the economic situation and the necessities that flow from it. The second is the men in office and the philosophies they hold. The third is the strength and organization of the workers and their allies. The first two we know. The third is in the making, and it is the most important of all. Let us assume that Mr. Roosevelt has the will and the energy and the fibre to carry out, over the next four years the mandate the people have given him. What remains is that the workers and the farmers and the liberal middle class groups shall build a framework within which this can be done."

Father Coughlin accepts the rebuke of electors by declaring that he is retiring from politics and will adopt "a policy of silence" toward the New Deal Republicans are still trying to figure out what happened.

President Roosevelt's re-election leaves no doubt as to which direction the American public are desirous of going. They have expressed themselves as out of favor with radical viewpoints as expounded by Communist candidate Earl Browder and Socialist candidate Norman Thomas. They have shown themselves to be out of sympathy with Fascist organizations as inspired by the Townsend-Coughlin-Lemke clique and likewise opposed to the policy of standard old guardism as voiced through Governor Alf Landon.

Roosevelt, in The New York Nation puts it, was a triumph for three things, a man, a viewpoint, and a direction. The Roosevelt personal—his friendly smile—his personal integrity—played a big part in the elections.

The viewpoint called for the limitation of many abuses but the retention of the capitalist structure. The direction is one of honest social reform—reform which will provide more security and will lessen the danger of future economic calamities.

In The Mail Bag

CANADA

British? Non-British? or Anti-British? Mr. Editor—

Dear Sir: In my first letter to the Press I said:—"The adulteration of Canada's blood by the influx of people from almost every nation under heaven during the last 35 years has already brought us within measurable distance of being a non-British nation. How can it be otherwise, when, in the first six months of this year, we have only received 912 British out of a total of 52,023?"

Every lecturer, speaking to farmers about their cows and pigs, has agreed them, expected to get pure stock, or they soon would have nothing but very scrub animals. Yet Canada, as a nation, has been doing the very opposite with her population of what the experts have advised the farmer to do with his stock, and as a result, we are rapidly becoming a "scrub" nation.

What with the Immigration Department and the Railways (apparently acting quite independently of each other) this country has been deluged with a flood of European immigrants of a very undesirable class. For a time (during the depression) this appeared to have stopped, but now it has begun again—the trickle before the next flood.

In the first six months of this year 1936 we had Non-British people immigrated to the land 40 different races. Of course some were few in number, but others were much too large, I.e., Ruthenians 373 (more than the 243 we had of Scotch) Slovaks 243, Hebrews 234, Italian 153, Magyar 176, Polish 157, Roumanians 145, Croatians 122. Then there were Albanians, Armenians, Bohemians, Bulgarians, Czechs, Dutch, Finns, East-Indians, Estonians, Greeks, Japanese, Jugo-Slavs, Lettish, Lithuanian, Maltese, Mexicans, Negroes, Persians, Portuguese, Rumanians, Russians, Serbians, Spanish, Syrians, and some others, 4340 in all.

How can we build a nation out of a conglomeration like that? And this medley of races has been pouring in upon us for the last 35 years! Is it any wonder that we have shootings and riots and Canada is rapidly becoming, in character and law abiding instincts as well as in loyalty! Non-British.

The purpose of the National Association is to curb this influx and thus assist in building up in Canada a God fearing, law abiding people, loyal to the King and loyal to an integral member of the British Empire.

GEORGE EXTON LLOYD,
Bishop's House, Esquimalt, B.C.Former Edmonton Man
Promoted In Montreal

MONTREAL, Que.—Official announcement was made today by S. J. Hungerford, chairman and president, Canadian National Railways, of the appointment of N. B. Walton as Chief of Transportation with headquarters at Montreal. Mr. Walton has been General Superintendent of Transportation, Western Region, with headquarters at Winnipeg, since March 1930, and is well known as a railway operating officer of wide experience, especially on the western region.

Mr. Walton, who was born in Palmerston, Ont., has been active in railroading since 1900 when he started as clerk and stenographer with the Grand Trunk at Toronto. From then until 1907 he served the Grand Trunk Railway in the positions of clerk and stenographer; secretary to superintendent, telegraph operator and secretary to vice-president and assistant superintendent. In 1907 Mr. Walton transferred to the Great Northern at St. Paul as secretary to the vice-president, and later inspector of transportation.

Returning to the Grand Trunk at Toronto in April 1908 he became Claims Agent. In October of the same year Mr. Walton became secretary to the general superintendent of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Winnipeg and served subsequently as trainmaster at Winnipeg, Alta.; assistant to general superintendent at Winnipeg; and superintendent at Edmonton. In September 1920 Mr. Walton became assistant general superintendent, Canadian National Railways at Prince Rupert, B.C., and transferred to Winnipeg in 1924 as general superintendent, being appointed superintendent of transportation, western region, in March 1930.

Mr. Hungerford also announced that in the future the general manager of the Canadian National Steamships will report to R. C. Vaughan, vice-president.

New Ford Has All
Last Improvements

Mr. A. Dupre, the local agent, announces that the new Ford V-8 cars for 1937 present a number of outstanding features, principal among which are:

Two engine sizes—a brand-new 65 horsepower V-8 making its first bow in the North American motor car market, and the famous 35 horsepower V-8 with a number of important refinements. The car itself is built in only one size with one standard of roomy comfort and modern appearance.

New cable-and-conduit control "easy-action" brakes with "the safety of steel from pedal to wheel."

New body lines in which the "tear drop" form has been used wherever practicable. Headlamps in fenders.

In the closed body types available a de luxe five-passenger club coupe is new. Five body types come either with or without de luxe equipment. Six are with de luxe equipment.

All steel body, including new all-steel top as well as steel structure, steel panels and all-steel floor.

Improved "finger tip" steering, with increased wheel leverage of 18.2 to 1 and worm and roller gear.

Increased comfort, including new quietness of operation.

The new car according to those who previewed it at the Ford dealer meetings in Windsor and Detroit last week, is the most beautiful Ford ever built. Its sleek lines flow without a break from the smart radiator grille through the new shield-type hood, the new slanting V-type windshield and the smoothly rounded steel top to the graceful reverse curve of the rear quarter. Virtually every visible component of the car reflects the tear drop form.

The interior reveals the same meticulous attention to details. The treatment is modern. Upholstery is pillowed, with wide panels. Seats are wide, deep and soft-cushioned. The instrument panel is grained with the dash and engine controls in front of the driver. Starter button is on the dash, the handbrake at the left under the panel, out of the way of the front seat passengers.

From a mechanical standpoint the most important development in the new Ford is the 60 horsepower V-8 engine. Although new to this continent, it has been built in England and France for more than a year for Ford cars designed for the European market. There it has been an outstanding success.

All the refinements of the big engine being incorporated in the smaller unit.

Canadian "Stork Derby"
In Government Hands

TORONTO.—The ten-year period of the Toronto "Stork Derby," or "Maternity Stakes"—as the event is called by caption writers, ended with October, and the responsibility now rests upon the courts, with the help of the Ontario Government, of picking the winner.

The prize is a sum of money not less than $100,000, and possibly as much as $150,000, left in the will of Charles Vance Millar, an eccentric Toronto lawyer, to the Toronto woman giving birth to the greatest number of children in the decade now ended. It is not essential that the children should be legitimate.

As the contest ended the Ontario Premier, Mr. Hepburn, called it "the most revolting and disgusting exhibition ever put on in a civilized country" and said the Government would take action to prevent extended litigation likely to exhaust the estate.

There will be much searching of records and registration before the money is paid over, but Mrs. Matthew Kenny, French-Canadian dance her name claims her total for the ten years is twelve infants and that this is top.

AMONG THE OLD-TIMERS

"REMINISCENCE OF OTHER DAYS"

TWENTY YEARS AGO

"The Sportman's 202nd Battalion" passed through town en route to parts unknown last week and did us the honor of marching through our streets in their uniforms. They showed splendid specimens of physique.

One of the saddest tragedies of the year took place at Heath on Wednesday morning last. While attempting to light the fire with coal oil, Mrs. E. Krimball had her clothing catch fire to such an extent that she attempted to extinguish it. She was unsuccessful and she passed away shortly afterward. Her daughter, Mrs. M. Cook, in an attempt to save her mother's life, also had her clothing catch fire and she was so badly burned that she died the following morning after having been taken to an Edmonton hospital. No damage was done to the house or contents.

A meeting was held in St. Thomas' Anglican church rectory for the purpose of forming a much needed men's club. Plans were laid and election of officers is to take place at the next meeting.

Mrs. B. N. Fraser has returned to town after spending a pleasant six-week holiday with friends and relatives in her old home in Winnipeg.

TEN YEARS AGO

After a slight delay caused by waiting for special cement, the cementing at the Dome No. 1 well was completed last Tuesday night and the hole is now finished as far as the drilling is concerned. A splendid job was made of the pouring and it is expected to take only around a week to dry after which Driller Allison hopes to drill through the cement, drop the liner and bring in the well the following week. Oilmen predict Dome No. 1 as being the best well in the field.

A reorganization meeting of the local curling club was held on Monday evening with a good crowd of those interested present. The following officers were elected for the coming season: Pres., J. H. Miller; vice-pres., Rev. G. G. Pybus; secretary, G. T. Steel.

A kitchen shower was held at the home of Mrs. W. Goulet last week to furnish the new home of Esther Murphy. Many useful articles were received.

Mr. J. Robinson received a badly hurt knee on Monday while at work at the Bawlf elevator. It seems that the gears slipped on the dumb platform and Jimmy received a nasty hit with the crank.

With the wheat crop all nicely stored away, it appears that the returns were far better than it was anticipated. Conservative estimates place the crop at about 112,000,000 bushels, an increase of 10,000,000 bushels over the 1925 crop. The yield in some instances was as much as 50 per cent more than expected. The grade, however, was lower than the previous year due to the continued wet weather during the growing season.

BRUCE BARTON Says:

Let Them Howl

Coming to work Monday morning, with a heart full of peace and good will, I found two letters on my desk.

"Sir: I long have been a reader of your pieces, but your last editorial was the best you ever have written. I have cut it out and am going to frame it and hang it in my office."

The other letter referred to the same identical editorial:

"Sir: Much of the time I have agreed with you, but after reading your last week's effusion I bid you farewell. Such a bunch of baloney!"

Being naturally a sensitive person, I suffered from criticism in my early days. Once, when an article of mine contained a blunder for which the editor received caustic letters, I felt so sick I stayed in bed all one day.

But as time went on I developed a philosophy as to criticism and so, it seems to me, must every man who is going to get anything done. The first point in that philosophy is that you can't please everybody, and that much criticism, good or bad, is entirely unimportant.

One can not be guided too much by the public because the public is so changeable. Every public character of any influence has been popular at some time in his career and unpopular at other. Criticism is good for us. We need it, no matter how well meaning or careful we may be. One time when John Morley was being severely handled by the English press Gladstone said to him: "Take it from me that to endure tramping on with patience and self-control is no bad element in the preparation of a man for walking firmly and successfully in the path of great public duty. Be sure that discipline is full of blessings."

Finally, and in the last analysis a man has to do his best and go forward. A famous old English schoolmaster had this motto, of which I am fond: "Never explain, never retract, never apologize. Get it done and let them howl."

Let's Preach Positive Faith

Years ago an eminent economist had an idea. Selecting one protestant denomination whose records had been kept carefully, he set down the number of new members added each year. Opposite this, in another column, he classified each year from an economic standpoint as prosperous or bad.

The year 1865 was a bad year; nineteen thousand people joined this particular church. In 1866 came panic, and new members jumped to two thousand.

Then years of "good" times, but bad times for the church, until the panic of 1873, when up shot the membership, reaching a "new high" in 1877, when prosperity registered a "new low."

I fancy the same thing is happening today; at least our church has been full recently. Last Sunday the preacher said that religion consists in being able to recognize the extraordinary in the ordinary things of life.

Many people see the turmoil of the present, and say: "It is confusion; it is anarchy; it is hopeless." But those who are wiser say: "It is God remoulding His world into a new and better image. Let us bestir ourselves and go forward."

The sermon lifted us. It was a clear prophetic voice announcing that the Power which made the world has not deserted it, it still working in it. It made us feel that we ought to lift our eyes and be active, lest these great and far-reaching changes come to pass without our recognizing them.

I advise all preachers these days to preach a positive faith. To put aside any sermons that criticize people or discourage them, and preach confidence, courage and hope.

Men need this now. If the church can provide it, the church will make great gains.

TODAY & TOMORROW

by Frank Parker Stockbridge

PENSIONS . . . for everybody I am convinced that we are coming, in America, to a system of old age pensions for everybody, regardless of need. The idea has grown rapidly since Dr. Townsend launched his project, and was given an impetus by the Social Security Act. I do not imagine the ultimate scheme will be like either of those.

If anybody is going to have pensions then everybody should have them. At present only certain favored groups are pensioned. Paupers get old age pensions, as do veterans of some of our wars. Railway employees of the Federal government, of most state governments and of many municipalities.

It seems to me to be the fair thing to pension everybody at a given age, and tax everybody to pay the pensions.

UNEMPLOYED . . . count 'em I hope the next thing the Administration at Washington does will be to make an accurate count of the number of persons still unemployed. Nobody knows how many of them ever were employed. A truthful census of unemployment should tell us how many are unemployed, by reason of physical or mental incapacity, and how many are out of work because they don't want to work.

It is certain, in my mind, that we have been providing, out of public funds, for some millions of shiftless, lazy, and generally incompetent persons who never have worked when they can avoid it, yet managed somehow to keep going.

We have made these folk into a favored special class, which is not good for them or for the rest of us but why not count 'em and let us know where we stand?

DEMOCRACY . . . it works Last week Tuesday the greatest demonstration in history of the way democracy works was given by the people of the United States. Nowhere else in the world has any such number of men and women ever had the chance to express themselves and their views on questions of their own government.

I know of no other great nation in which the only qualification for voting is citizenship, regardless of economic or social status. Nowhere else do the people elect the head of their government; they choose only members of their parliaments or assemblies, who in turn choose the executives. And nowhere else that I know of has any such number of persons ever cast their votes without coercion or interference by government.

It has taken 150 years to convince the rest of the world that democracy works, but it works only when it is absolutely free from all restraints.

on the free will and the honest expressions of the voters.

PARTIES . . . necessary The two-party system has been functioning in America since this nation was a baby. Theoretically it is the wrong way to run a nation. In practice, human nature being what it is, it works better than any other system which has ever been tried.

Under the party system the independent voters, who do not want to affiliate permanently with either party, always hold the balance of power. The actual enrolled membership of either the major parties has never comprised a clear majority of the electorate. It is the independent vote, which, after all elects the President.

But without the parties and their organizations, what a hit-or-miss

This Week in Washington

With the reelection of President Roosevelt the major question which now interests Washington is whether the New Deal policies will be continued or whether the Administration and the new Congress will take a more conservative attitude in public affairs. The general belief here is that the next four years constituting Mr. Roosevelt's second term, will not be so filled with spectacular experiments in government as the period just passed.

Despite the sweeping victory of the Democrats, it is the belief here that Republican opposition in Congress will be much better organized and led than in the past two Congresses, and that there will be a swing toward the conservative side in the Democratic Congressional leadership.

An interesting phase of the Congressional situation is the rise to prominence in the Democratic Party councils of the Texas group. Vice-President Garner is the leader of this bloc, which is more powerful than most people realize. Seven other Texans in the Lower House, including Representatives Hayburn, Connolly, Summers, Marvin Jones, Buchanan, Lanham, and Patman wield among them a powerful influence. They have a close tie with the Administration through another Texan, Jesse Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, who in many respects is the most powerful figure in the executive department. Texas has six committee chairmen in the House.

On the Republican side the stage is set for an active and aggressive Opposition, looking forward to the Congressional elections of 1938 and the Presidential election of 1940. The foremost Republican leaders are Representatives Snell, Wadsworth, Hollister, Bolton, Martin and Treadway. In the Senate, Senator McNary will continue to be the nominal leader by virtue of seniority, but as he is regarded by his associates as being distinctly pro-Roosevelt, the actual leadership will fall to Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, who seized the reins last Winter and led the only effective opposition which has developed in the past 3½ years.

All the indications, therefore, point to serious and intense political activity on Capitol Hill for the next two years.

There is some doubt whether Representative Bankhead of Alabama, the present Speaker of the House, will be physically able to continue in that office. The principal candidates for the speakership, in the event of Mr. Bankhead's retirement, are Representatives O'Connor of Tammam, Rayburn of Texas and McCormack of Massachusetts. The Tammam influence is expected to be stronger in the new House, and the Tammam bloc will hold the balance of power on many issues.

Another thing which seems certain is that there will be more battles and more powerful ones trying to influence Congress on behalf of special groups and minorities than at any previous time. The labor lobby will probably be the most powerful of these, having as its objective the Cofey Coal Bill, the Six-hour Day for railroad workers and the 30-hour week for all employees. Part of the labor program is to try to build up a strong labor party to play a part in the campaign of 1940.

The effort of the farm lobby will be to keep what it has got rather than to urge further benefits for farmers. The Veterans' lobby, however, having succeeded in getting the prepayment of the bonus over President Roosevelt's veto, has been encouraged to believe that it can get anything it wants. What it wants now is a general life pension for veterans and the widows and orphans of veterans.

So far as Washington observers affair a Presidential election would be ideal. I suppose we all ought to write the names of our personal choices of every office, but in that case nobody would get a majority and it would take all Winter to count the votes.

POLITICIANS . . . useful It is the fashion to denounce politicians and politicians wholesale. I do it myself sometimes. I don't like the methods of most politicians, and I have known very few in that classification whose word I would be willing to take without question.

But government is a political matter, and the men who can run governments most effectively must of necessity be endowed with the political gift. Some of the ablest men we have ever elected to high office have been failures as administrators because they did not understand politics. And some of the most successful men in public office have not had much equipment except that deep understanding of human nature and how it reacts in the mass, which is the essence of political education. Politicians seem to me, therefore, to come under the classification of "necessary evils."
